COLLABORATION ACROSS UNITS

Lessons shared in support of undergraduate and graduate student transitional experiences.

Undergraduate & graduate students share common transitional experiences, including:

STRESS & ANXIETY

IMPOSTER SYNDROME

NEED FOR COMMUNITY

First Year Programs, which serves undergraduate students and Core Programs, which serves graduate & professional students, collaborated with each other, shared resources, and coordinated themes to support both undergraduate and graduate student transition; leading to increased persistence and retention for both populations.

Some populations experience stress, anxiety, and imposter syndrome at higher rates.
